

Investment Markets overview

Free taster

Week Ending 23 June 2017

$US72, 000,000,000,000..... Or $72 Trillion, is the indicative value of Global stock-markets according to the latest Bloomberg data, which is surpassed by the global value of securitised debt, put at circa $US95 trillion, whereas the value of all the gold ever mined comes in at around a "paltry" $US6 trillion. Dwarfing all assets classes, however, is Global residential property, which was stated at $US162 Trillion in an excellent early 2016 report by international real estate specialists, Savills PLC. The sheer scale of the latter plus the rate of growth in cross border activity and volumes since the 2007/09 financial crisis is enough to make a natural contrarian attuned to bubble-like symptoms within this sector and head for the hills. Throw in other evidence of late, much of which have been highlighted within this column, such as house prices to average wages, slowing price momentum and the return of lax lending practices, it provides more than sufficient analysis to predict the likely percentage house-price falls within many parts of the world. Your personalised report is available HERE.

Aside of the other main economic data covered, there was plenty of international housing data released this week, so the residential property theme of above will be continued this week, supported by interesting charts:

Subscribe to the full Investment Markets Overview which contains:

- US economic data and a supporting chart
- Euro-Zone and the UK economic data and a supporting chart

- Asia including Japan economic data and a supporting chart
- The week's currency and sovereign bond market movers
- Commodity movers including Oil, Copper and the precious metals
- Economic due for release over the following week

This week's edition includes residential property as a common theme, with this week's charts including:

- Main stock-indices week's performance
- US home prices V US home sales
- UK Rightmove asking prices for UK housing
- China Tier 1, 2 and 3 home price inflation
- $US and the main commodity movers of the week
- A longer term table of the major World stock-indices

All of this is available at a little more than a £1 per day!

Material contained within this website is for general information purposes only and is not intended to be relied upon by individual readers in making (or refraining from making) any specific investment decision. Investmentmatters.club and its staff do not accept any liability for any loss suffered by any user as a result of any such decision. Please note that the prices of investments can rise and fall sharply and you may not get back the money you originally invested, particularly where these investments are leveraged.

The investments and services mentioned in this website will not be suitable for all readers. You should assess the suitability of the recommendations (implicit or otherwise) of investments and services mentioned within this website (or partner sites and links) to your own circumstances. If you have any doubts about the suitability of any investment or service, you should take appropriate professional advice.

he views and recommendations within this website are based on information from a variety of sources. Although these are believed to be reliable, we cannot guarantee the accuracy or completeness of the information herein.